FUNDRAISING GUIDE

Mini-Fields of Women (MFW) provide a great opportunity to fundraise for BCNA however there is no obligation to do so when hosting one. Some people like to use the MFW solely as an opportunity for reflection with friends, family and community.

This particular set of guidelines is specifically for those who wish to fundraise for BCNA through donations and merchandise sales at a MFW event.

Fundraising/Donations/Merchandise sales

There are three ways you can raise funds for BCNA on the day of your MFW

Fundraising

- Use of BCNA fundraising tins - all tins are individually numbered and allocated to your event. After the event just open the tins with a can opener, count the money and deposit it to your online fundraising page or into the BCNA bank account.
- Raffles – source items from local businesses and host a raffle at your event

Donations

- People can donate directly to BCNA via your fundraising page or by providing cash or cheque on the day.
- Share your fundraising link via social media
- BCNA can provide tax deductible receipts for donations.
- All donations of $2 and over are tax deductible

Merchandise

Your MFW Event-in-a-box contains the items required to host a Mini-Field of Women.

If you wish to sell BCNA merchandise at your MFW you will need to pre-purchase it from our online store <https://pinksportsday.bcna.org.au/store> to sell at your event.

Alternatively, people can go online and purchase their own merchandise and have it posted directly to them.
